PRP (Platelet rich plasma)	R3000 per session (3-6 sessions)
----------------------------	-------------------------------------

PRP procedure: The doctor will draw two small samples of blood, spin it in a centrifuge machine available in- clinic to separate platelet rich plasma from platelet poor plasma. Thereafter, she will activate the platelet rich plasma to stimulate growth factors. Then she uses a medical microneedling device to apply this mixture to the face or any other indicated area. This works incredibly well as an anti-aging, beauty and hair treatment! She also treats some of her patients with medical conditions such as sport injuries and rheumatoid arthritis with PRP. Other uses for PRP include sexual rejuvenation also known as the 'O' shot.
